HVAC Service & Preventive Maintenance

HVAC Service

Our regionalized service personnel are available 24/7 to respond to emergency calls within two hours throughout the San Francisco Bay Area. They're equipped with electronic tablets to provide superior paperless communication, documentation, dispatching, repair-quote processing, and email work orders. With over two million hours of current field experience and technical support, Therma Corporation's service technicians can ensure that issues will be diagnosed accurately and remedied quickly to reduce downtime and restore normal operations.

HVAC Preventive Maintenance

Therma Corporation has been providing preventive maintenance services for almost 50 years. We truly understand the critical relationship between supporting mechanical infrastructure to sustain a comfortable working environment or process application, while simultaneously controlling costs, managing energy consumption and achieving the highest operational performance possible.

Our technicians are the main point of contact for our customers and take ownership of their accounts with direct communication to enhance the client's service experience. Various levels of service are available to fit both the budgetary and operational requirements of any facility – whether it's an office building, data center, biotech, food processing, or manufacturing plant.
